

The project has been completed for a couple of years. You can look back on the project with pride and satisfaction. It certainly contributed to the positive change which you are now seeing.

In the right field, write down its impact (max. 20 words). If you cannot fit it into 20 words, think carefully about what you really want to achieve with this project. Start with: Thanks in part to our project... Describe this legacy in terms of CHANGE and to WHOM the change applies.

! Impact

Look at the above 'dream'. To achieve this, things are needed in your project. Enter the table for your own project.

	For staff	For pupils/students/youth	For the organisation
+ Outcomes described in terms of changes in knowledge, skills, behaviour, school practice, etc.
= In order to achieve this outcome, we need the following concrete results (output):
▶ To this end, we will need to carry out the following activities:
■ ■ ■ For this purpose, we will use the following resources (input):

COMPLETE THE TABLE FOR YOUR PROJECT.

Indicator(s)

The aim of outcome indicators is to measure what you actually wish to measure, which is not the number of meetings but their effect.

How will you measure it?

Analysis of reports, focus group interviews, semi-structured interview, individual evaluation (e.g. SurveyMonkey), observations, storytelling.

Outcome	Outcome indicator(s)	How will you measure it?	When will you measure it?

Increase the impact of your project

Take the right people and organizations with you and complete the table.

Who is involved in my project and who ought to be involved in my project?	Which role do they play?	Which message do I want to convey to them?	How can I involve them from the outset?
