Digitalisation and adult learning: the Norwegian approach to inclusion in a digital society (in English)

Graciela Sbertoli, Chair of EBSN

The current Norwegian approach to integration for newly arrived immigrants focuses on swift integration into both society and the world of work. Digital literacy is both a goal and a tool in this process. How should these elements be integrated into training programmes? What are the success criteria for efficient implementation?

Mind the gap

Adult learning and digitalisation: new opportunities and new responsibilities (in German)

Birgit Aschemann, CONEDU

Taking into account recent developments in Europe, the role of digitalisation in all areas of life will be addressed. What cycle is typical for digital learning offers and what are the opportunities and concerns in this area? What is the role of adult education professionals in the ongoing process of digitalisation, and what opportunities arise from large-scale further education offers such as the Austrian MOOC for adult educators (EBmooc) that took place in March/April 2017 with more than 2700 registered participants?

The plenary session is being facilitated by Hermine Steinbach-Buchinger, agentur.steinbach.at
